Best Sports Bar - 2013

Brother Jimmy's

There's something to be said for a chain of bars that's consistently packed week in and week out. With drinks the size of punch bowls, heaping portions of barbecue, and enough television sets to put P.C. Richard on notice, these frat-friendly stomping grounds bring out the sports fanatic in all of us.

Brother Jimmy's friendly staff break out jerseys on game days, and they can help even Dallas Cowboy fans feel welcome in New York. Margaritas in mason jars, skee-ball, and a menu rich in Southern comfort food support the notion that these places throw the city's largest house parties on NFL game day. Standout specials include all-you-can-eat wings and rib tips on Monday night along with $3 beer specials during happy hour.
